

John P. Delaney, S.J. 1894-1959

In Appreciation...

In the tradition of the Jesuit scientist was Father John P. Delaney, professor of Physics at Loyola for twenty years. Born in Washington, D.C., August 23, 1894, he entered the Society of Jesus, August 11, 1914. After ordination June 28, 1925, Father Delaney did graduate study in Physics at Holy Cross College and the Johns Hopkins University and taught at Boston College, St. Joseph's College and Canisius College.

Appointed Chairman of the Physics Department of Loyola in 1938, he continued in research and made over twenty contributions to learned journals chiefly in the field of seismography. Father Delaney's other fields of interest were photography and astronomy. He received national recognition with the publication of his photograph, "The Madonna of the Stars". This picture was a twelve hour exposure of the stars tracing a halo around the statue of Our Lady here on campus. A framed copy of this picture is in the Physics Library.

Retiring from the active teachers list in 1955, Father was almost unknown to the present students here. His contributions to science, however, require a debt of gratitude from every Loyola student.

Rounding out his many activities, Father Delaney was Chaplain at Mercy Villa, a rest home for religious here, for almost his full stay at Loyola. In this office he made a name in the local music circles by organizing and developing the Mercy Villa Choristers, a group of altar boys. This group became famous as one of the best boys choirs in the Baltimore-Washington area. Truly John Delaney followed the Ignatian principle of "All for the greater glory of God."

"One More Job"

"The busiest men have time for one job more and frequently it is a non-paying one in behalf of the general community."

Thus did an editorial in The Morning Sun begin a tribute to Mr. William J. Casey, who died March 23, 1959, at the age of 87. Not the least of these jobs was Mr. Casey's long service on behalf of Loyola College.

An outstanding civic leader and Catholic layman, Mr. Casey was one of the original members of the Lay Council formed some twenty years ago to offer guidance and counsel to the Jesuit administrators of Loyola College. He served on this lay board, now known as the President's Board, from 1941 until his death. He was chairman of the board from 1947 to 1950.

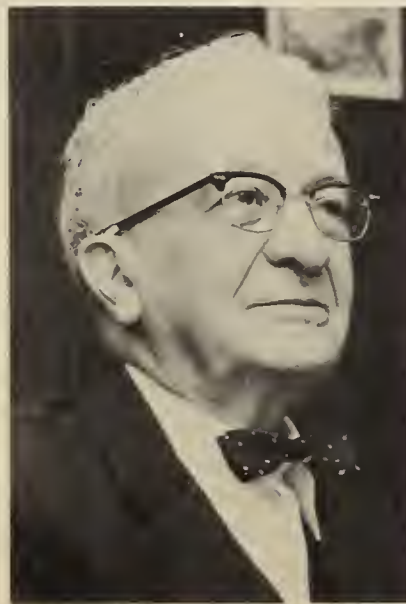

Mr. Casey began his career as a financial reporter for the Sun and entered the banking profession in 1905. He had been chairman of the Board of the Maryland Trust Company since 1950. He was also member of twelve other boards including the Gas and Electric Company, the Pratt Library and Treasurer of the local Red Cross Chapter.

Mr. Casey received many honors for devotion to his native city, including the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Loyola, in 1945, for his "interest in and service to the highest forms of public welfare and his zeal for the good of his fellow citizens."

Mr. Casey served as financial advisor to Father Beatty when the Loyola College Development Program began three years ago, and remained active until illness in November 1958 caused him to curtail his many activities.

Mr. Casey's kindness, his expertness of knowledge, soundness of judgement, and integrity of character will be sorely missed.

Queen's Ball Set For May 9; 'Men Of Note' Supply Music

Candidates for top positions in yesterday's election Tom Dwyer, Hugh Coyle, Ed Metzbowler and Joe O'Hara. Coyle was unopposed for president of the Athletic Association, O'Hara unopposed as president of Senior Class. Metzbowler and Dwyer fought it out for President of Student Council.

Eastern Rites Tomorrow; May Devotions To Begin

Byzantine Mass

The Byzantine Liturgy, originally scheduled for April 3, was postponed until May 1. (too late for the Greyhound story of March 25 to be corrected).

Father Melnychuk of Washington will be celebrant of the rite at 12 noon in the college chapel. An Eastern Rite choir will sing the responses.

Attendance at the Liturgy fulfills all Mass obligations for the First Friday devotions. Communion will be distributed under both species as is the practice among the Eastern Rites.

The National Federation of Catholic College Students is the sponsor of this activity in the interest of teaching the Latin Rite Catholic the rich and ancient Liturgy of the Eastern Rite.

May Devotions

May devotions will again be held this year on the lawn at the statue of Our Lady facing the Library Building. They will consist of a short talk on the Blessed Virgin by a student speaker and the recitation of the Litany of Loretto by the student body. The bell will ring at 11:40 a.m., with the devotions lasting from 11:45 until 11:50.

Jr. Prom, F.I.D. Make Weekend

Two big orchestra dances were staged last weekend. The junior class held their prom and the freshman class put on an invitational dance for local high school seniors.

The Southern Hotel was the site of the Junior Prom; and the music was provided by Chester Kellam. The prom favors, sign post type pins, were unusual.

Joe O'Hara, Harv Keene, Mike Spigelmire, Bill Lohnes, Ed Metzbowler and Knute Johnson formed the Dance Organization Committee.

The Freshman Invitational Dance was held primarily to acquaint the local high school seniors with the social life at Loyola College.

Ham Dugan, Mike Abromaitis, Tom Sunphy, and John Baynes ran the affair, with music by the Delonaires.

professor, was a speaker at the luncheon held during the spring meeting of the Middle Atlantic Group of the College English Association. The meeting held April 18 at American University had the theme "The Image of the College Teacher of English — To see ourselves . . . as others see us!"

Accountants

Accountants and Auditors are needed in various Federal agencies throughout the country, the U.S. Civil Service Commission announces. The entrance salaries are $4,040 and $4,980 a year.

To qualify, applicants must have completed appropriate accounting study or have equivalent progressive experience. Persons qualifying on the basis of CPA certificate or education will not be required to take a written test.

Examination Announcement No. 18 contains complete information and is available at any post office or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

The Queen's Ball, the last dance of the school year at Loyola, will be held on May 9 from 9' till 1 in the Evergreen Gym. This dance is semi-formal and no corsage is necessary.

The gym, however, will be decorated with tall curtains and flowers. The "Men of Note" will provide music for this affair. This is the thirteenth year that the Ball has been held by the Sodality, and it has become a tradition.

There is a ceremony sometime during the evening at which time the Mother of Christ is crowned in effigy by her court; composed of five ladies chosen from among those in attendance.

Oppelt To Be Honored

Following the crowning ceremony, Father Beatty, the college president, will present a gavel to both the incoming and outgoing presidents of the Student Council. He next presents an award to the outstanding Sodalist of the year; this year John Oppelt a senior Math major and past prefect of the Sodality.

Mass is celebrated at 1:15 A.M. for those who wish to attend.

USNSA Denies Festival Nod

The United States National Student Association continues in its policy of denying official recognition to the Vienna Youth Festival.

In a recent announcement of the International Commission of USNSA, it was stated that because of partisan objectives of the Communist influenced Youth Festival, real student solidarity would be weakened. The Commission then went on to say that personal contacts could be made but that group agreement was not feasible. The stand of the USNSA despite ad hoc groups sponsoring American representation remains an official cold shoulder without censuring individuals who wish to attend.

Mohler Trophy

By Bill Lohnes

Sports Editor, The Greyhound

"Indomitable spirit and the will — to — win," according to Athletic Director, Emil G. Reitz Jr., These were the characteristics of the late John R. Mohler, "the ideal model for Loyola athletes."

John Mohler graduated from Evergreen in 1950. In 1953, the former varsity swimmer, wrestler, and lacrosse player, assumed the coaching reins of the Greyhound lacrosse team. Three years later, following prolonged illness, the man who made Loyola his middle name met his only Master.

At the annual sports banquet in May, a worthy senior will step to the speaker's table and receive a trophy which is a tradition, a tradition started three years ago, when the Loyola College Alumni Association decided to honor the memory of this great Loyola athlete, John Mohler, by the presentation of an award to the senior outstanding in athletics, scholarship,

JOE ABEY: track (3), wrestling (2); KEN BILLEB: x-country (4), track (4); JIM BONGARDT: golf (4); PHIL BRADY: lacrosse (3); BILL BYRNES: lac. (4); TOM CANTOW: baseball (2), lac. ### Daniel, Chapter 5

Hanging on the back wall of the cafeteria is a chart showing the attendance at First Friday Mass since the new voluntary attendance went into effect. The line just seems to go down. After only three months, the attendance is fifty percent of the number required.

The Dean of Studies authorized this experiment for three semesters, but in accepting the responsibility, the Student Council said that if for three consecutive months there was not a reasonable number of students attending, they would consider the experiment closed and request a return to the previous compulsory attendance. Fifty percent is not a "reasonable number".

Unless attendance at First Friday Mass shows an increase over last month's figures, the Committee on Attendance will consider asking return to compulsory attendance.

In the student campaign for this privilege, it was stated that the students would attend voluntarily. Certainly, a group which will so quickly forget its statements will not be given privileges so easily the next time.

If the student body at Loyola expects to gain any more powers of self-government, the students must unite to support this move. J.M.M.

Mary's Month

Among the oleographs which make up the bulk of Catholic religious pictures and holy cards is one of Our Lady pulling souls into heaven by means of a rosary. Prescinding from its violation of most criteria of art, it graphically presents the power of devotion to Our Lady, especially as Queen of the Rosary.

One of the first prayers which a child learns is the Hail Mary, and one of the religious objects which first fascinate him is the rosary. The educated class, of which we are struggling young members, often takes St. Paul too literally when he says, "When I was a child, I thought as a child . . . but now I am a man and put away the things of a child," and forgets that Christ said, "Unless you become as little children, you shall not enter the kingdom of heaven." There is a great deal of sentiment and, unfortunately sentimentality also built up about the rosary and once we become a little educated, we wish to do away with sentiment and sentimentality. The by-product sentimentality is the thing disliked: the 'pious' mumblings and "it makes me feel good" attitude repels the intelligent person, not the strong attachments of true sentiment.

We need sentiment and its half-blind reactions to carry us over the rough spots in life. Psychologists find that a great many of our actions are only half willed: we do something wilfully several times and find ourselves continuing to do it even without really thinking of it.

The sacraments are the principal sources of grace, but they are not always close at hand. The rosary is perhaps the most powerful of the sacramentals and we can easily keep one handy. By developing our devotion to the rosary and Mary Queen of the Rosary, we will have a strong aid in time of need. During May, Mary's month, let us again "become as little children" and pray the rosary in honor of Mary Our Mother.

J.M.M.

The Church Silent

Tomorrow hundreds of tiny cards of the Madonna and the Child will be distributed in Loyola's Chapel. This particular Madonna is unusual in that her features are Chinese as are the Child's. Also tomorrow, hundreds of Chinese Communists will participate in the Communist May Day celebrations. The cards of the Madonna and Child are not merely more "Holy cards": they are membership cards in the Union Of Prayers For The Persecuted Church In China.

The Catholics in China are still suffering under the tyranny of Communism. Thousands of Catholics are presently in jail or in labor camps; thousands of former missionaries have been expelled from China; priests, monks, and nuns are now in exile. Communism has caused this pitiful state in China: only Catholicism can change it. But the Catholicism in China is not enough. There must be a Catholic action in all parts of the world. There must be Catholic action at Loyola.

The suggested Catholic action is prayer. It is suggested that you, men of Loyola, join the Union of Prayers. There are no fees nor other material obligations. You merely promise to pray for the persecuted Catholics in China as often as you can, and, from time to time, offer a little sacrifice for them. It takes fifteen seconds to say the prayer which is on the reverse side of the card of the Madonna. In the words of Thomas Cardinal Tien, S.V.D., Archbishop of Peiping, "We sincerely invite you to join the world-wide Union Of Prayers for the persecuted Church in China."

Student Council Reply

In the last issue of your publication there was an open letter printed that hurled considerable invective against John Synodinos. It seems as if one of the members of your staff was considerably vexed because the Elections Committee had not allowed him to run for two offices at once. The Committee, I am sure, is sorry for having put a crimp in Mr. Keene's style and although there is no specific rule in the Election ordinances that makes a person ineligible to run for two offices at once, the committee felt that maybe the candidate was over-reaching himself somewhat. Most of us find it rather difficult to handle two elected offices at once, at least handle them adequately. We, the committee felt that we were saving Mr. Keene time, as one of the offices surely would have been cancelled by the Dean anyway. For years the Dean has endeavored to get the Student Council to handle the bulk of the election problems. The Election Committee was perfectly within its rights in screening the petitions for office.

Perhaps we castigate Mr. Keene too much. It is certainly surprising to find such an enterprising fellow in a school so chock-full of apathy.

Wenzel Named All-Star Coach

By JOE BOSSLE

Recognition has once again descended upon a member of Loyola's coaching staff. On this occasion, Charley Wenzel, Hound lacrosse coach is the recipient of the honors. After acting as an assistant coach in '58, Charley has been named head coach of the South squad for this year's North-South All-Star game, which will be held at Johns Hopkins University, June 5.

Came to Loyola in 54

Charley is a native Baltimorean, having attended Polytechnic, where he played basketball in addition to lacrosse. After two years Army duty, he entered the University of Maryland, where he won four letters in lacrosse. Following graduation from Maryland, he played one year of defense for the Maryland Lacrosse Club, before coming to Loyola as head coach in 1954. In addition to his coaching duties here, Charley also acts as an assistant football coach at Mergenthaler Vocational, during the winter.

British Student's Essay On Profs.

A British student who has attended three American colleges is the winner of an essay contest on the book Some of My Best Friends Are Professors. Robert MacDonald a senior English major at New York University is much gentler than the author of the book, Professor George Williams of the Rice Institute in his criticism of American professors.

Prof Williams places the blame for the American collegian's frequent laziness and indifference to study on the dullness, repetitiveness and lack of interest in the art of teaching of the professor. Mr. MacDonald while agreeing that instruction at American schools may often be pedestrian, contends that it is the materialistic, market-oriented values of contemporary life reflected in campus bureaucracy that make the student something less than an educated person.

The contest, sponsored by Abelard-Schuman, publishers of the book in question, received an enthusiastic response from undergraduates who wished to express their sincere feelings about the weaknesses of higher education today. There was a hopeful note since many of the entrants planned to enter the teaching profession.

Hounds Face W.M.; Win First Four

By CHARLES SULLIVAN

The Loyola College baseball team will face Western Maryland at home tomorrow, at 3 P.M. On April 9, the Greyhounds opened their 1959 Mason-Dixon Conference baseball season with a 4-1 victory over Baltimore U. This was Loyola's second straight win in overall competition.

Sophomores Dave Marshall and Sonny Young teamed up to limit the Bees to three hits, with the win being credited to Marshall.

Don Deinlein opened the Loyola second with a single to deep short. Paul DiPino followed with a booming double to left. Bucky Effinger lifted a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Deinlein.

In the third the Greyhounds made it 2-0 when Dave Carney walked with one out. He was advanced to third on Marshall's single to center, and scored on Ron Seager's sacrifice fly.

Loyola added two insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth. Seager and Deinlein both walked. Effinger then lined a single to left to score both runners. This gave the Hounds a 4-1 lead which they maintained for the remainder of the game. Baltimore U. . . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0-1 LOYOLA . . . . . 0 1 1 0 0 2 0 0 x-4 On April 18, the Greyhounds extended their unbeaten string to four games by defeating Mt. St. Mary's twice, 6-5 and 10-0 at Emmitsburg.

Bill Hartman, with singles in the second and fourth drove in two runs, while Seager drove in one with his third inning homer in the opener.

Talbott Young, who needed help from Dave Marshall in the bottom of the seventh, was credited with the win.

In the second game Butch Woytowitz led the way with a neat two-hit shutout.

Last Tuesday Butch Woytowitz pitched his way to a 13 to 6 victory over Hopkins. Bucky Effinger and Ron Seager led the Hound attack with three hits apiece.

Track Team Opposes C. U. Tomorrow, Away

By ALLEN BRULL

With four meets under their belts the track squad is preparing for Catholic U. this Friday. Thus far the Hounds have lost to Washington College and the Mounts and have beaten Western Md.

The Shoremen swept the pole vault, high jump and both hurdles to offset winning performances by Kenny Billeb in the mile. Stack Burton in the two mile, and Paul Sherman in the 880. Arnie Sapperstein won the 100 in 10.3 and placed 3rd in the shot which the Hounds swept with Wade Bowman and Ron Sacker placing first and second.

In downing Western Maryland, Arnie Sapperstein won the 100 and 220 and turned in an admirable performance on the mile relay team, while Nick Jackson, running in his first meet, placed second in both events. Stack Burton won the mile and Kenny Billeb copped the duce while Sherman took his usual first place in the half mile in addition to anchoring the mile relay.

The Westminster crew swept the pole vault, broad jump, and low hurdles to make it close, but with Dick Jones winning the highs the thinclads were able to win it by eight points.

Although the Greyhounds were defeated by the Mounts, nevertheless, there were some reasons for smiles.

Intramural Items

By MATT SCHWIENTECK

The Hi-men won the Intramural Basketball Championship for the second straight year, 28-24.

The Hi-men went into the championship games undefeated while the Vets had lost one game. Two loses were necessary to be eliminated.

The Vets won the first game 21-12. Twardowicz scored nine for the Vets while Ellis and Gardiner dropped in four for the Hi-men. Neither team could hit with any consistency.

The second game saw Mike Ellis drop in 16 points to pace the Hi-men in a 28-24 win over the Vets. Sneeringer scored 11 for the Vets. Both Sneeringer and Ellis spark-plugged their squads.

In Intramural Softball the Dodo's B team forfeited to the Moleskin B team.

Gorkies defeated the Strikeouts 5-2. A four run second inning put Gorkies ahead to stay. The winning pitcher was Kelly. The losing pitcher was Burch.

The Moleskin Varsity tied the Roto Rooters 4-4.

The Dukes won by forfeit over the Slobbs.

Tom Schultz threw a one hitter as the Moleskin B squad trounced the Screwballs 13-0. The Moleskins pounded the Screwball's pitching for five home runs.

The Nads scored three runs in the last inning to defeat the Birdmen 9-8.

The Dodo's "A" defeated the Trojans 13-4. Macek was the winning pitcher.

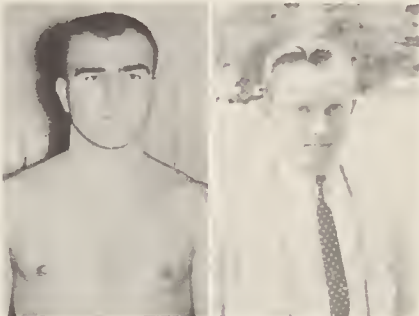

The Baegals trounced the Madballs 13-0. Bogusky was the winning pitcher while Murn was the loser. This game was a minor upset as the Madballs came in third place last year.

Mohler Men

Next week, Loyola's lettermen have the opportunity of electing a Senior athlete, who has participated in intercollegiate sports for three years, as the winner of the John R. Mohler Memorial Trophy. The presentation of this trophy will be made at the Sport's Banquet on May 23rd.

In addition to the above eligibility rules, the Senior should also be an above-average student and an above-average athlete. He should also be emotionally mature and well-liked by his teammates. He need not be the team captain nor an "All-American", "All-State," "All-Conference", or even a Star.

The voting, which will take place in "Mac's Emporium" (Campus Shop) between the 6th and 13th of May, is open to all lettermen, cheerleaders, and managers.

Netmen

Due to a relatively inexperienced team the Hounds have found the road to victory both lengthy and rugged. The Loyolans have dropped their first six tilts to top competition such as Colgate, Georgetown and Hopkins and the remainder of the schedule promises no release in pressure.

Sam Donohue, along with Bob O'Connor are the only senior members.

Dr. Doris Duffy Boyle Sets Precedent At Loyola

(The following story is a personal interview feature by John Bauernschub, class of 1962. — Ed.)

The beginning of the 1958 fall semester brought to the Evergreen campus a new Associate Professor in the Business Department, Dr. Doris Duffy Boyle. She has set a first in Loyola history in that she is the only woman professor to be teaching on a full-time basis in the day school. It is especially gratifying to have Dr. Boyle here because she is a native Baltimorean, and because she received her secondary and college education at our neighboring Notre Dame, obtaining an A.B. degree with an English major in 1939.

An Inspiration

A curiosity about economics and the example and influence of Notre Dame's Dr. Elizabeth Morrissey led her to an M.A. degree in Social Sciences at Catholic University in 1940, and a Ph.D. degree in 1947. Dr. Morrissey (the recipient of an Honorary Degree from Loyola two years ago) had said in class one day that the Church and the world had great need of young Catholics highly trained in the Social Sciences to give leadership in the social, economic, and political field. Dr. Boyle is even more convinced of this today than when she first heard the statement about twenty years ago.

After the death of her husband in 1956, she was named an Associate Editor of the Antigonish diocesan paper, contributing editorials and a weekly column on economic and social topics.

Dr. Boyle is happy to be back in Baltimore and at Loyola. She believes that Loyola students have great potential, and holds strongly to the liberal arts training which Loyola provides.

Why Liberal Arts?

"Today people are so concerned with the 'Know-how' that there is danger that we will forget the 'know-why'. A liberal arts training should provide both."

Dr. Boyle believes that it is most necessary for the college student to have a sense of purpose and goal, and to arrive at it as early as possible in his college career. This is clearly demonstrated in her own Economics courses where she attempts to correlate economic theory with moral principles and social implications. She expressed profound agreement with the Loyola administration in striving for the highest standards of scholarship.

Dr. Boyle, Loyola's Feminine Economist.

Next year Loyola will be offering an Economics major for students interested in preparing for business, law, journalism, government education, the communication arts and other related fields.

"These are fields which 'change the world' and it is most important that Catholics be leaders in them." Dr. Boyle maintains: "Each Loyola graduate must do three things: make a living, make a life, and make good social life. Jesuit education should prepare the student for all three. It is a great privilege to be part of the Loyola community."

Military Societies Plan For Next Year

Scabbard & Blade

Company I-11 of the Scabbard and Blade Society closed the current year with the election of new officers. Succeeding Andy Blasco as Captain is Mike Schmidtman. Pat Cullen takes over Executive Officer Joy Hopkins' duties. Gordon Hasenei replaces Elmer Linthicum as Secretary; and Ed Zepp follows John Birrane as Treasurer.

The principle functions of the Society is the co-sponsorship of the Military Ball, which is held annually in early December. This year the Company organized the dance, hired the orchestra, and supervised the election of the ROTC Queen and her court.

On 11 April the Society took charge of the familiarization firing of the M1 rifle by 50 cadets from the ROTC regiment. Members of I-11 conducted the preliminary range instructions and served as assistant instructors at the Aberdeen Proving Ground firing range where the familiarization took place.

AUSA

The Loyola College chapter of the Association of the United States Army (AUSA) is an organization of advanced course

ROTC students who have as their purpose an increase in understanding of the various operations, aspects, and developments of the army.

Under the leadership of its president, Roy Gegner, and his assistants, Hugh McKenna, Pete Santoni, and Paul Boerschel, the AUS has fulfilled its purpose by having guest speakers on campus, and by making tours of Army installations.

One of the more famous guests this year was Major General John W. Bowen, Assistant Chief of Staff for Reserve Components, Department of the Army. Tours of a Nike base and of Aberdeen Proving Ground were taken; and various films were shown to members of the Association.

Incoming president, Al Muehlberger, and his assistants, Lou Santoni, Tom Hitzelberger, and Ray Weinstein, have already scheduled similar events for the coming year.
